HORIZON-CL2-2022-TRANSFORMATIONS-01-08: Strengthening racial, ethnic and religious equality

EXPERTISE OFFER — TASK LEAD, PARTNER

Researcher — Dorottya Kisfalusi PhD

Dorottya Kisfalusi is a Research Fellow at the Centre for Social Sciences, Computational Social Science - Research Center for Educational and Network Studies (CSS-RECENS), Budapest, Hungary. In her prior work she concentrated on positive and negative peer relationships among children and adolescents, school bullying and victimization, interethnic relations, and ethnic classification processes. Her recent work centers on the mechanisms explaining ethnic differences in academic achievement. She is now the principal investigator of the project titled "Discrimination in teacher assessments or network effects? Understanding the mechanisms behind ethnic and gender differences in school achievement". She applies mainly quantitative research designs such as quantitative data analysis, experiments, and social network analysis.
More information: Researcher profile.

Expertise offer for the call

- Sociology of education, ethnic and gender discrimination in education, educational inequalities
- Interethnic relations, peer influence in education
- Quantitative data analysis, social network analysis, survey design, experiments

Relevant research experience, projects & publications

- Kisfalusi, D., Janky, B., and Takács, K. (2021): Grading in Hungarian Primary Schools: Mechanisms of Ethnic Discrimination against Roma Students. European Sociological Review, https://doi.org/10.1093/esr/jcab023
- Kisfalusi, D., J. Pál, and Zs. Boda (2020): Bullying and victimization among majority and minority students: The role of peers' ethnic perceptions. Social Networks 60(1): 48-60. https://doi.org/10.1016/j.socnet.2018.08.006
- Kisfalusi, D., B. Janky and K. Takács (2019): Double Standards or Social Identity? The Role of Gender and Ethnicity in Ability Perceptions in the Classroom. The Journal of Early Adolescence 39 (5): 745–780. https://doi.org/10.1177/0272431618791278
- ERC team member: "No Sword Bites So Fiercly as an Evil Tongue? Gossip Wrecks Reputation, but Enhances Cooperation (ERC, PI: Károly Takács)"

Contact: Dorottya Kisfalusi, Research Fellow, CSS-RECENS. Email: kisfalusi.dorottya@tk.hu

Centre for Social Sciences (CSS) Budapest

The Centre for Social Sciences (CSS) Budapest is the flagship research institute of social sciences in Hungary. It conducts disciplinary and interdisciplinary research in the areas of

- sociology
- political science
- computational social science
- network science
- minority studies and
- legal studies

using the latest scientific methods and high quality research data. CSS Budapest is dedicated to building collaborative, trans-disciplinary research networks both within Hungary and internationally.