

HORIZON-CL2-2022-DEMOCRACY-01-05

Evolution of political extremism and its influence on contemporary social and political dialogue

EXPERTISE OFFER — WP LEAD, TASK LEAD, PARTNER

Researcher — Eszter Neumann PhD

Eszter Neumann is a research fellow at the Institute for Minority Studies at the Centre for Social Sciences. She obtained her PhD at King’s College London in 2018. Dr Neumann is a sociologist of education specialized in qualitative research methods. Her main interests concern education policy research and policy sociology, more specifically populism, nationalism, extremism and neo-conservatism in education, the new morality politics and the anti-gender agenda in education, church-state relations in education, and the digitalization and privatization of education. More information: researcher profile

Expertise offer for the call

- Hungarian case study on the influence of populism and conservatism on education policy and the daily lives of schools, students’ perspectives on populism and de-democratization, the extremisation of students, the impact of the anti-LGBTQ agenda on education
- Comparative study in Central-Eastern Europe in the above topic
- Literature review

Relevant research experience, projects & publications

Participant in the FP7 KNOW&POL research project

Publication: Neumann, E; Gewirtz, S.; Maguire, Meg; Towers, E. (2020) Neoconservative education policy and the case of the English Baccalaureate. Journal of Curriculum Studies. 52(5): 702-719.

Publication: Neumann, E. (2022) Education for a Christian Nation: Religion and nationalism in the Hungarian education policy discourse. European Educational Research Journal. January 2022.

Contact: Eszter Neumann, Research Fellow at the Institute for Minority Studies

Email: neumann.eszter@tk.hu

Centre for Social Sciences (CSS) Budapest

The Centre for Social Sciences \(CSS\) Budapest is the flagship research institute of social sciences in Hungary. It conducts disciplinary and interdisciplinary research in the areas of

- sociology
- political science
- computational social science
- network science
- minority studies and
- legal studies

using the latest scientific methods and high quality research data. CSS Budapest is dedicated to building collaborative, trans-disciplinary research networks both within Hungary and internationally.

